In Adelaide recently I attended the Chartered Accountants ANZ event where Treasurer Stephen Mullighan MP outlined key priorities for the 2025–26 State Budget, focusing on infrastructure, industry growth, and investment.

The merger of University of Adelaide and UniSA is expected to strengthen research and innovation, while the nuclear submarine project will drive job creation in advanced manufacturing.

BHP's copper expansion in the north and global interest in Whyalla's steelworks signal strong resource sector growth. These developments could provide significant opportunities for SMEs, particularly in supply chains and supporting industries.

It's great to see South Australia positioning itself for long-term economic resilience.

Meet the Borrower: Riding the Export Wave with Fast & Simple Loans

When export demand surges, agility matters. Our client—a major lobster exporter and seafood wholesaler—needed fast refinancing and working capital to meet a sudden uptick in overseas orders.

We delivered a $3.62 million Business Basics loan at 65% LVR, secured against a luxury South Australian residence. The 36-month facility gave the client exactly what they needed: a streamlined refinance and cash out to back large export contracts.

With trade roaring back and strong profitability on the horizon, the client is poised to refinance with their bank once export returns are realised.

At SME Funding Hub, we connect businesses to capital that moves as fast as they do.

RATINGS

What do clients really think?

Last year I received a fantastic review on Adviser Ratings: "Dev has been extremely helpful and knowledgeable throughout the process, thoroughly exceeding our expectations. We highly recommend his services and expertise!" – JT, 2024

Your feedback helps others navigate their own financial journeys with confidence. If we've worked together, I'd love for you to leave a review too.

Recently the Chartered Accountants Australia and New Zealand released some information from Stephen Reid FCA on the key trends in business valuation, including economic uncertainties, interest rates, and the evolving role of AI in professional practice.

It highlights the divergence in monetary policy between Australia and New Zealand, the cautious stance of the Reserve Bank of Australia, and the potential impact of global factors on investment confidence.

Reid also emphasizes the opportunities for business valuers in navigating market volatility and leveraging AI-driven analytics while maintaining professional judgment and ethical expertise.
